PRODUCT CHANGE NOTIFICATION: SQUARED GLAZING BEAD

We are constantly looking for ways to improve our window systems. Effective in early January, we will transition to a much thicker squared glazing bead.

There is no additional charge for this change. We believe it is our responsibility to give as much as we can for your dollar not as little. The squared bead is an improvement for the following reasons:

- It is heavier, making it less susceptible to damage.
- It provides a cleaner, richer look.
- It increases the pressure on the glass unit improving compression.

Please notify us if you are ordering windows which must match our current clamshell bead as we will continue to stock an inventory of this part. Do not worry, we will not mix orders during the transition.

Please feel free to contact your sales or customer service representative with questions. Thank you again for your business and your understanding.

Coeur d'Alene Windows introduces the 3000 Series Window

The 3000 Series features a significantly heavier mainframe, a stronger fixed interlock and cleaner lines than other similarly positioned window systems. Combining excellent energy performance with a solid structural design, the The Coeur d'Alene Window Company once again counters the trend of producing ever thinner and smaller window frames.

"More and more, we see a trend of consumers being forced to remove and replace vinyl windows because manufacturers are sacrificing quality construction in a race to the bottom of the price spectrum. The 3000 Series goes against this race toward mediocrity by providing one of the heaviest mainframes in the business combined with a strong interlock and transition bar," states company president, Mike McVay.

Built to last and last, the 3000 Series also features an improved pull rail, right and left operating cam-locks, a mainframe devoid of outdated accessory lines, and set back glass to improve stability. Ask your Coeur d'Alene representative about the 3000 Series today.
